NOBODY WANTS 'EM

Pity the Jeffersonian Democrats. Their new deal brothers and sisters have crowded them from the family table. Their father is dead long since and their mother has too many younger children to be bothered with them.

Every once in a while one of the neighbor boys mentions something about moving in with the Republican family, but the Jeffersonians are afraid of being rebuffed. In fact, the latest brotherly proposal excited one of the main men in the Republican family, Rep. Snell of New York, to the point of saying there would be no place for the Jeffersonians no matter what happened.

That was a harsh way to state the situation, and undoubtedly it will offend some of the tender-hearted Republicans. Yet, there is a lot of blunt truth in Rep. Snell's refusal to consider a coalition. Jeffersonian Democrats never could feel at home under a Republican roof. When and if things cleared up in their own family, they undoubtedly would want to go back.

They might be grateful for bed and board, and they might not. Some of the disaffected Republicans who have left home and gone to live with the Democrats always are getting into trouble. Officially, they are as welcome as the flowers in May, but unofficially they are made to feel the stigma of their birth in an alien household. Apparently, political inter-marriage simply isn't feasible. If nobody wants the Jeffersonian Democrats, they'll have to qualify for places in the WPA and wait for something to turn up, unless somebody relents and takes them in.

A NEW STYLE IN HISTORY

Much is heard from time to time about a new style in history. The death of James Harvey Robinson removes from the small group of important living historians one of the men who contributed materially to whatever is new in the modern style of history writing.

Obviously, the easiest way to write history is to make a simple record of events. A diary is that kind of history. Facts and descriptions are set down chronologically, usually with no attempt to show relationship among them. But history is something more than dates and names.

It is a story of numerous forces flowing in the stream of time. It is the story of a war, but it also is the story of what caused the war and what resulted from the war. It is the story of a great leader but it is at the same time the story of the circumstances which made him great.

James Harvey Robinson introduced social and economic factors into the dry historical fodder upon which he had been nourished. If he made history more readable by making it more palatable, he also caused more of his fellowmen to read and to understand history. His books, used widely by students, represented a new attractiveness in an old subject.

The importance of a knowledge of history is conceded universally. Yet, it is not enough to know dates and names. Forces must be recognized and understood. In that way can the gap between history as information and history as knowledge be bridged. To James Harvey Robinson, historian, philosopher and literary master, belongs credit for revealing some of the long unnoticed facts of history.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 20—Sime Silverman's son Syd has become a sort of Man Nobody Knows in a world where life's major motif is personal three-sheeting. And in this shrinking obscurity has made his views felt in the theater, on the screen and on the radio. He's proved a surprise package.

His father gave him Variety, the paper he founded, several years before his passing. On sudden impulse ten minutes before going to press he went to the composing room and flew the boy's name at the masthead. It was in this way the next day the son learned of his proprietorship.

Most people thought it a mere sentimental gesture—they were great pals. But Sime evidently had a premonition. The two were precise opposites. Sime rough and tumble with a flair of bombast. A hail fellow, a check snatcher and one of the best beloved roysters on Broadway.

The son, frail, shy, college bred seemed an incongruous successor. But Variety went right ahead, circulation increased and depression pay cuts were recently wiped out. Sime's faith was not misplaced. Young Silverman is happily married to the former Marie Saxon, dancer.

So many who came newspapering to New York bewildered by its furore and greatness, snooting and double dealing found Sime Silverman an anchor of strength and inspiration. He had been through the mill and knew how to take it—and come back for more. I remember writing him one day about a worry that seemed portentous. He wrote across the bottom: "Tuck this away and look at it six months from now and have a belly laugh." I did and did.

That was, of course, a variant of the small town philosopher—every village claims him—who stopped his whittling one day to yawn. "I've had lots of troubles in my time but most of them never happened." Still a honey to remember when everything goes black.

Some analyst could write a magazine piece on the odd ways hunger for certain foods are destroyed. Laurence Stallings was once a lover of link sausage. On a battlefield one day he came upon a body. Clutched in a hand was a sausage the victim had been eating when killed. Stallings could never eat such meat again. Corot, the painter, loved wild game as food. One day a wounded wild duck fell on his farm, became a domesticated and a great pet. Corot was never able to eat fowl of any kind.

On the grand boulevards near the Place Bastille I used to pass a spic boulangerie which displayed the most tempting cream puffs I ever beheld. They have been a favorite delicacy since the boyhood days of Mrs. Jenny's ice cream parlor. Somehow or other I was always in a taxi or walking in a hurry when passing the place and never stopped. One Sunday morning I made a special trip to procure a batch for dinner. There was the same fresh display. Opening the door tinkled a far-away bell. The proprietress appeared smiling. I bought a dozen but with no gusto, and on the way home dropped them in a refuse bin. Never after have I been able to eat cream puffs. The proprietress was heavily mustached!

Tableau: Legend has it that the most luxurious of night clubs, The House of Morgan, was erected by the devoted admirer of the stary-eyed Helen Morgan. And every night when she hops on the piano to sing he sits immobile in a darkened corner, listening to her laments and when lights come on his eyes are always moist.

Thingumabobs: Sophie Tucker won the popularity vote conducted by a London newspaper for the best liked player America ever sent over. . . . Paris, Mo., is to name a street for its local luminary, Martha Dean. . . . Phil Baker, who used to be billed as "a bad boy from a good family," won't set foot out of his home now without his wife. . . . Lawrence Tibbett, would rather sing "Glory Road" than any other song. . . . Frank, of the Paris Ritz bar, is plotting a Park Avenue bistro.

From the Michigan Sagatuck: "McIntyre has an undoubted flair for the alliterative but he's never been able to think up one to go with that first name." Don't be ridic! Otiose Odd.

Gilbert Miller is now a fully fledged aeroplanist in the English Registry and dashes about in his plane as most of us peasants do in Fords. Every whipsnitch he's off to Budapest, Vienna, Rome, Paris and the Riviera to carry on with his multiple theatrical enterprises. Here's how he became an aviator: He was just getting so so at golf under personal supervision of a Scottish pro, when he up and broke a leg. That meant the end of golf for several months. So he turned to aviation where the sitting was pretty!

I was in a wealthy bachelor's duplex the other day when his butler brought him an all white and magnificently monogrammed muffler just delivered. It was a flowingly beautiful thing and I knew him well enough to satiate a curiosity about the cost. He didn't know and it had been charged. So he called up to find out—$33. Not a thought left. Headline: "Putterer Puckered Out."

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, February 21

A fairly lively and satisfactory day, with much depending on personal acumen and discretion, is forecast from the prevailing planetary configurations. Financial prospects seem fair, but should not be jeopardized by rash or impetuous decisions. Those whose birthday it is are under fairly good auspices for a gainful and progressive year, with money matters improving and things long held up moving to more active conditions. This may be at the support or behest of elders or those in sound positions.

A child born on this day may be industrious, studious, faithful and will gain, through its dependable qualities, the support and approval of elders and superiors.

Use of Insulin

Man is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward. He suffers from many ailments. Some of them are only partially understood. Yet by means of modern methods of treatment many of them can be controlled. Among such, one of the most common is diabetes.

Medical research workers are daily seeking the solution of the mysteries surrounding this disease. So far no one has discovered the actual cause of diabetes. Nor as yet has there been devised a remedy which will actually cure this affliction.

I venture to say that a goodly number of persons believe diabetes is curable. They point to the discovery of insulin and its marvelous "curative" effects. Insulin has indeed proved to be a great boon in the treatment of diabetes, and the control of its symptoms, but unfortunately it is not a cure for the disease.

The victim of this trouble has an insufficient supply of the natural insulin which is secreted by certain cells of the pancreas if that organ is normal. The substance is required to help burn starches and sugars. If there is a deficiency, foods that are vital to health are not properly utilized. There is an accumulation of sugar in the tissues of the body.

It Consumes Sugar

When the artificially prepared insulin is given to a diabetic the excess of sugar found in the blood and tissues is properly consumed. Then there are developed heat and energy which are essential to good health.

Insulin is given in varying amounts, depending upon the age and weight of the patient and the extent of the disease. It must be injected through a needle. If taken by mouth it is destroyed by the juices of the stomach. Accurate dosage and proper administration are imperative. If taken incorrectly serious disturbances occur. An overdose may mean shock, convulsions or even more serious effect. But if taken under medical supervision there is no danger.

Within recent years the administration of insulin has been so perfected that it is given to young children. Not every case of diabetes requires insulin. Often the disorder is mild in its nature and due to overweight and indiscretions in the diet. When such patients are placed on a suitable diet, one free from an excess of starches and fatty food, the symptoms disappear. Where diet alone is not sufficient to get rid of the over-accumulation of sugar, insulin should be given.

TOWNSEND UNIT WELCOMES PROBE

Investigation Proposed by House As "Wonderful Publicity For Us"

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Congressional investigation of the Townsend and other old age pension movements was "welcomed" today by the Townsend organization as "wonderful publicity for us."

The house voted 240 to 4 yesterday to set up a committee of eight members for the inquiry. Representative Dell (D. Mo.) author of inquiry resolution, said that as a result of the bill were concluded "ills which afflict our old people."

Dr. F. E. Townsend, pension plan leader, is a "patriot and a quack," he said, "and no reflection on Townsend's record."

Progress Of U.S. Traced At Aid Meet

The progress of the United States from the time of Washington until today was traced in a patriotic program presented at the meeting of Division 3 of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid society in the chapel Wednesday afternoon. Miss Hazel Johnson was in charge of the program, which opened with a group of songs.

Mrs. Thomas Mercer read several poems appropriate to the program and Mrs. Harold Babb entertained with a piano selection. Tea was served after the meeting by the committee. Appointments and decorations for the table were carried out in a patriotic color scheme and a center decoration was a bowl of red, white and blue flowers.

Program Presented By W. C. T. U.

A program on the works of Frances E. Willard was presented Tuesday afternoon when members of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. George Mountford on Vine st.

Mrs. Mountford read the "Crusade Psalm," the 146th, which was the favorite of Frances Willard, and Mrs. L. L. Park read a paper on the rise and beginning of the W. C. T. U., tracing its progress from a group of both men and women in Hillsboro, O., the Ohio organization, and later the national group. The story of one family's concern for the movement was given by Mrs. Harold Babb who also played as a piano selection, "Near the Cross". Miss Laura Schilling gave a paper on "The Effect of the Crusade on Woman's Position at the Present Time", saying that it was responsible for the emancipation of women.

The meeting place next month has not been decided.

Mrs. Cecil Scott Class Hostess

Papers on "Jane Addams" and "Hannah", given by Mrs. Ward Ekstein and Mrs. Chester Cope, respectively, were features of the program at the meeting of the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church last night at the home of Mrs. Cecil Scott on Tenth st.

Mrs. Scott and her associates, Mrs. Carl Willman, Miss Blanche Fulton, Mrs. Francis Wise and Mrs. L. H. Baldinger served a lunch after the meeting.

On March 18 the class will meet at the home of Mrs. F. W. Koenreich on East Pershing st.

Mrs. J. F. Schmid Club Hostess

Mrs. J. F. Schmid entertained club associates last evening at a 6:30 p. m. dinner at the Spanish Tavern, the group going to the Schmid home on N. Lincoln ave. for cards after the dinner.

Two tables of bridge were in play during the evening. Mrs. M. K. Bertolotto, Miss Dorothy Duncan and Miss Grace McCrae received the prizes.

On March 11 the group will be entertained at Miss McCrae's home on West Pershing st.

Win Prizes At Benefit Party

Mrs. Edwin Muntz and Thomas Gorman were winners of prizes Wednesday evening at the benefit card party given by the Daughters of America at the home of Mrs. Anna Farmer. Four tables of "500" were in play, with a lunch served afterwards. Miss Isabelle Prantz was associate hostess.

The meeting on Feb. 25 at the hall will be a George Washington party.

Eight O'clock Club

The Eight O'clock club celebrated its first anniversary Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Pike on East State st. Two tables of "500" were in play during the evening, with the prize going to Miss Mildred Barber. A lunch followed, served by the hostess.

The meeting March 3 will be held at the home of Miss Barber on Sixth st.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr, Mrs. Stella Walton and Mr. and Mrs. John Douth were in Zelonople yesterday attending the funeral of Mr. Douth's cousin, Lee Douth of Piquette.

U. S. Conciliator At Goodyear Plant

AKRON, Feb. 20.—T. W. Chapell, department of labor conciliator from Washington, took over the task of trying to break a deadlock between striking employees and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., today while 14,000 workers remained idle.

Massed pickets blocked all entrances to the three large plants and the general offices. More than 500 employees were still inside, but production was at a virtual standstill.

Labor troubles increased on another front as the management of the Columbia Chemical Co. ordered the closing of its plant in suburban Barberton after 250 workers began a "sit-down" protest in sympathy with 50 union pipefitters who asked a wage increase of four cents an hour. The plant employs 900.

Chapell was assigned to the Goodyear seige by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

At the same time officials of two railroads said they were considering obtaining a federal court injunction to prevent pickets from halting coal cars assigned to the Goodyear power plant.

Since Tuesday, when picketing kept 6,000 persons from entering plant No. 2, there have been only a few minor scuffles and no serious violence.

Farmers Put Cash Back Into Ground

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—Ohio farmers took advantage of improved financial conditions in 1935 to return almost $8,500,000 worth of life-giving elements to the soil.

The agronomy department of Ohio State university reported today that farmers of the state purchased 306,509 tons of fertilizers last year, just 32,153 tons short of the 338,662 tons purchased in the peak year of 1926.

In contrast, the report showed that only 169,239 tons were applied to the soil in 1932, the low point of the depression.

Agricultural experts declared that an average Ohio corn crop took a yearly toll from the soil of about 56,600 tons of nitrogen, 5,734 tons of phosphoric acid and 31,526 tons of potash.

Last year through fertilization, farmers replaced about 6,447 tons of nitrogen, 40,321 tons of sulphuric acid and 12,014 tons of potash.

"A series of years like 1932," the experts asserted, "would reduce the soil to a state of complete exhaustion."

Illegal Operation Charged In Arrest

ALLIANCE, Feb. 20.—Paul Hempel, proprietor of a bath establishment at Canton was arrested by deputy sheriff and city police on a charge of performing a criminal operation.

His arrest followed the admission of a 23-year-old divorcee in the Alliance City hospital where she is in a critical condition as the result of an operation allegedly performed in Hempel's establishment. Prosecutor George N. Graham said the prisoner admitted similar action in a number of cases.

DICKINSON HITS FDR'S NEW DEAL

"Bunglers", Iowa Senator Tells Republican Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Democratic guesses as to who will be the G. O. P. presidential nominee were heard today along with a Republican senator's charge that New Dealers are "bunglers."

Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas was picked by Tom Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic chieftain, to win the Republican nomination but lose the election to President Roosevelt.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, however, would be the choice of Charles Michelson, Democratic publicity director, if he were "making a book" on the nomination.

Haven't Entered Primary

Neither Vandenberg nor Landon has entered any state primary. Republican primary activity has been greatest so far in Illinois, where both Senator Borah of Idaho and Colonel Frank Knox of Chicago will test their strength. Whether Knox or Landon would do battle with Borah in Ohio, where he also is entered, remained uncertain.

Republicans and Democrats both were active in New York. Senator Dickinson of Iowa, who has disclosed presidential aspirations but said he will not enter any primaries, told the New York Young Republican club last night that the New Deal had failed to solve the basic problems of recovery. His idea, he said, was to "throw the bunglers out."

He assailed the administration's fiscal policies as has Colonel Knox many times.

On the Democratic front, in New York and elsewhere, there was considerable speculation about the significance of Alfred E. Smith's presence among the Tammany delegates to the Philadelphia convention in June.

There remained a chance that Smith would be opposed in the primary, but the administration forces have indicated they would not oppose him.

Fish Remains Angry

Representative Fish (R. N. Y.) a supporter of Borah, remained angry over what he called the "steam-roller" tactics of the "old guard" in his state's organization. State Chairman Melvin Eaton, in answer to Fish, yesterday, declared the slate of delegates-at-large chosen for the national convention at Cleveland was satisfactory to the rank and file of the party.

Fish, seeking a slate favorable to Senator Borah, had charged that "young Republicans" were given no recognition.

New dealers were looking forward to a test of strength coming next Wednesday in a county primary in Georgia, where Governor Eugene Talmadge fights against the administration. The Wilcox county executive committee has called for a presidential preference primary for Feb. 26.

Arrest Redlick In Los Angeles Home

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Trapped in the attic of his home by detectives with gas bombs, Abraham Redlick, 28, was arrested early today in connection with a $75,000 jewel robbery in Pittsburgh last December.

Redlick, known as the "Frisco Kid," was questioned also concerning a $500,000 mail train robbery at Warren, O., April 28, 1935.

Detective H. C. Lindley said he denied participation in either of the robberies, but admitted he was in Pittsburgh last Dec. 20, when the Sable brothers jewelry store was looted of 182 platinum and diamond rings and other valuables.

Lindley and two other officers, acting on a warrant from Pittsburgh, stalked out at Redlick's home last night. When they entered to place him under arrest, they said, he tried to conceal himself in the attic, but surrendered when they threatened to fire their gas guns.

HURRAH.. HURRAY!

I'VE LOST 40 POUNDS

They made me tired—all those slender women who were telling me not to eat potatoes and pastry and ice cream! They ate the same things I did—yet they never gained a pound!

But I fooled them! Knew something was wrong with my body, so I took 4 tablets a day containing a simple corrective for abnormal obesity prescribed by doctors the world over.

Results were amazing. I didn't diet, exercise, or drain my system by taking drastic purgatives. But gradually excess fat disappeared. Today I'm trim and slender.

That, in brief, is what thousands of women who have reduced the Marmola way might well tell you if they had the chance. Would you like to learn their secret? Then buy a package of Marmola, read the simple directions, and start at once to get rid of that burdensome fat!

Marmola is put up by one of the best known medical laboratories in America. Since 1907 men and women have purchased more than 20 million packages. Could any better recommendation be had?

Start today! You will soon experience Marmola's benefits. When you have gone far enough, stop taking Marmola. And you will bless the day when you first discovered this marvelous reducing agent!

Marmola is on sale by all dealers—from coast to coast!

Theater Attractions

Franchot Tone and Madge Evans stars of "Exclusive Story" to be shown at the State Friday and Saturday.

"Exclusive Story", showing at the State theater Friday and Saturday, co-stars Franchot Tone and Madge Evans in a newspaper yarn. Featured players are Stuart Erwin, Robert Barrat and Joseph Calleia. The theme of the film is taken from the real life activities of Martin Mooney, New York newspaperman, who startled the city with a series of articles exposing the "numbers" racketeers. He is the writer who was recently given a prison sentence for refusing to divulge the source of his exclusive story.

Tone in Attorney Role
Franchot Tone plays a crusading attorney. This is the star's first appearance on the screen since his marriage to Joan Crawford and his excellent performance in "Mutiny on the Bounty." Madge Evans plays the daughter of a grocer who is a racket victim. The film shows the growth of the policy racket, how innocent victims are drawn into the net, forced to sell the tickets and made victims of the wars that ensue when other gangs decide to "cut in." Madge Evans' father, in the film, is a kindly grocer, forced to sell the numbers and threatened with death when a rival gang steps in to the territory. Miss Evans, horrified at the state of affairs, seeks help from a newspaper, crusading against crime.

Franchot Tone, the attorney for the newspaper, and Stuart Erwin, an reporter, promise to help her. Exciting events occur while these two work on the case, trying to run down the leaders of the gang and save Miss Evans' father.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

CHAPTER XX

"I thought the matter over for several days. I am not perhaps completely modern. I do not share the theory Mr. Carrington had expressed to me that husbands and wives have a right to close friendship with other men and women. In fact, I do not have much faith in Platonic friendship of any description."

Her manner was quite superb. I was really awed by her. She was certainly arrogant but she was also decisive, firm, deliberate. I felt that the coldness and precision of her words and voice covered a lot of emotion. I could almost pity George in their row no matter how wrong he was, for she would be so quick, so sarcastic, so clever when she was angry, while he would become violent and confused.

She was continuing and I had to make my fingers hump to catch up with her.

"I came to the conclusion that this friendship was a revival of their old romance, and how serious it was I could determine only by seeing and talking with the woman; so I came to St. Joseph to see Miss Sinclair."

"What impression did you then gain?"

"I found a pretty, attractive girl who I thought would be reasonable and fair."

"Did she prove otherwise?"

"When I introduced myself, I came directly to the point. I told her that I had not come on a friendly visit but to find out what kind of a person she was, and to demand that she take some immediate action in regard to the situation she had created between me and my husband."

"What was her reaction to this demand?"

"Quite unexpected. She became very angry and refused to 'sacrifice her friendship with George,' as she put it."

Well, personally, I can understand that. If Mrs. Carrington was as overbearing and haughty when she talked to Connie as she was while she was telling about their meeting, she would make anybody contrary and mad. Connie said as much in the letter she was writing to George.

"This naturally influenced your action in the immediate future," commented the Inspector. "So what did you decide to do?"

"I decided to obtain a divorce."

"On the basis of Miss Sinclair's attitude?"

"On the basis of that and of my husband's statement to me during our discussion."

"Which was?"

Perhaps Mrs. Carrington thought she had talked too much. As everyone in the room leaned eagerly toward her to hear the reply, she hesitated. Then she said very clearly and very loudly, "Mr. Carrington told me that he was in love with Connie Sinclair and that he wished to marry her so soon as I would get a divorce!"

The remark of Mrs. Carrington's about George's being in love with Connie practically ended the testimony that afternoon. There was only one other dramatic moment. Just as the prisoners, for that is what they virtually were, were being escorted from the room by Officer Atwater, a sergeant came in.

"There is a woman to see you, Inspector."

"Who?"

"Mrs. Sardoni."

"Show her in."

As she entered, she met Mrs. Carrington face to face. The Italian woman paused in the doorway, lifted her arm with pointed finger in a most theatrical fashion.

"There she is!" she exclaimed.

"Who is this woman?" demanded Mrs. Carrington.

O'Brien made a brief introduction. Then the Carringtons proceeded on their way. Mrs. Sardoni regarded the other woman excitedly, scarcely waiting for the door to close before whispering: "That is the woman—that is the one who quarrelled with Miss Sinclair the week before she was murdered. I saw her picture in the paper and I came at once to identify her."

"Very good of you. I intended asking you to come down tomorrow. Now suppose you come into this office."

As the Inspector led the way, Mrs. Sardoni followed him, talking volubly and dramatically all the time. Officer Atwater came back shortly and told me I could go, but to come back and see O'Brien whenever convenient.

On the walk home, I cannot say whether I spent more time worrying over Allen or speculating about Mrs. Carrington. My mind was about evenly divided between the two. I was eager to build up a case against anyone which would release my brother from any suspicion, and I certainly had good material to work on in this woman's testimony. It was uncanny how much Mrs. Carrington resembled the picture which Helen had drawn in her imagination. The quality that struck me most was her being so deliberate. She was the type all right that would think things out, perhaps on the basis of her emotion, but who would plan exactly what she was going to do, then act. She had been tremendously angry with George, she admitted; that she must have been very hurt and shocked by his interest in Connie, must have been true. Yet she had not taken all he said at its face value before coming to see Connie, to get her angle on the case.

If she had been so deliberate in the mixture of emotions she felt at first, why would she not be equally so afterward? At the end of her stormy interview with Connie, she had felt positive that the girl was the cause of breaking up her home; that all George's statements which she thought might be attributed to anger were undoubtedly true. She left Connie in a great rage, and I'd venture to say, in great humiliation. Would her type not determine suddenly upon what she would do, plan the details, and carry them out boldly? In other words, granted that at first she decided on a divorce, she had returned to George's home, until Sunday, we knew from her testimony earlier. Apparently she had told him nothing of her visit to Connie, but waited to see what would result, not acting hastily.

When however, he left again on Sunday, would it not be possible that she was convinced Connie had won him, and determined to act? But just as she had waited until Sunday before leaving him, might she not have also waited from Sunday to Thursday to complete her plans? Could these plans have been the murder of Connie, instead of mere divorce?

Of course, the Inspector had ended the interview rather abruptly. It was possible he was working on some psychological theory or that he didn't want me to hear any more. At any rate, the days after her call on Connie had been ignored. But if she had planned a murder, as I was now inclined to believe she might have, she had taken plenty of time to secure a gun and to time her last visit.

This all fitted into the information we had then on the murder very well. I thought. For if Mr. Perkins didn't kill her, and if Hym didn't, then the third person had only fifteen minutes. Whoever did it, man or woman, had not come to argue and act on impulse. He or she had come armed, had come with a detailed plan, had simply opened Connie's door, seen her sitting at her desk, and had given her only time to look up before firing the shot. Satisfied that the girl was dead or she had closed the door and then gone softly down the stairs.

Did it not fit into the deliberateness that characterized Mrs. Carrington? Was it not entirely an easy murder for a woman to commit? But although I half-succeeded in proving to myself that George's wife was guilty, I had not explained how Allen came to have Connie's pen. I shuddered to think that perhaps I couldn't explain it, satisfactorily at least. I didn't know what my course of action should be. No doubt I should tell Dad and let him do the thing that was right. But Dad had had so much worry this week. Suppose the explanation was some simple thing that needn't bother him and Mother at all? After all, it was unthinkable that my brother was the actual murderer. The direct way seemed to be to ask him about it.

So when I reached home, I answered Mother's questions, set the table, and went to my room to clean up for dinner. Allen had not yet come home. In the mirror as I powdered my nose, I regarded my own face a long time. This worry was telling on me. I looked old and horribly serious. I thought about having a facial if I could eke it out of my next week's allowance. It seemed an ancient thing to be doing, but worry, no doubt, had prematurely aged me.

Down the hall, a door banged. I knew Allen had come home. It was not a pleasant task, but I decided to confront him. So I walked to his room.

Allen did not show much pleasure at seeing he. He opened the door and said, "What do you want?"

I saw the coat, which concealed the pen, lying on the bed; so I just walked by him to it. As I picked it up, he grabbed at it roughly.

"Let that alone!"

Although I'm small, I'm pretty strong. I jerked it away from him, ran around the other side of the bed, taking the pen from the inside pocket as I ran and then threw the coat at him. He was white and shaking. His eyes were wild. For a second I thought he would attempt to strike me, but instead the tears came, and he stamped his foot like a child.

"What do you mean, coming in and ransacking my pockets like this?" he cried.

I sat down on the bed, holding the pen tightly in my hand. Now that I was there, I didn't know what to say to this tall, nervous, crying kid. I felt ages older than he.

I spoke quietly hoping to calm him down.

"Allen, you only hurt yourself by letting your control go this way. You'll make people suspicious."

"Suspicious!" he shrieked, "suspicious of what?"

"Children," called Mother. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing. Mother," I sang back most nonchalantly. "I said something that teased Allen. I'm sorry."

"Now do be careful, Julie. Allen doesn't feel well. Come down in ten minutes."

"Yes Mother," was my meek reply. I heard her walk back to the kitchen. There, you see, I pointed out to my brother, "every-one thinks that you are ill and upset. Why should you be now? If you go on acting like this, people will begin to ask questions."

"Well, they'd better not! Anyway, there is nothing for them to find out."

He had not seen me take the pen. I now held it up.

"No?"

The effect threw me into a panic. Allen's legs gave way under him. Like a slow motion picture, he sank to the floor where he sat crumpled, mouth moving wordless.

PALESTINE ASKS POWER FINANCES

$57,714 Bill for Repairs To City Plant Exceeds Grant of Council

EAST PALESTINE, Feb. 20.—City council here is facing the problem of providing $4,164.56 to cover the difference in the cost of improvements to the municipal light and power plant, together with engineering fees, and the amount originally appropriated.

Improvements to the plant, recently completed, cost $48,204.56, exclusive of engineering fees, which totaled $3,510. Service-Safety Director Herbert Lemley advised council.

Of the materials and labor, the city has paid $44,182, while $2,225 of the engineer's bill also has been liquidated, leaving approximately $5,300 of the total bill of $51,714.56 unpaid. Council's appropriation was $47,050.

The question of how the additional funds shall be provided was referred to the utilities committee. Middleton township trustees will be asked to attend a conference which the safety committee, of which Henry Chaplow is chairman, has arranged with Unity township trustees at which time a contract for fire protection will be sought. This action followed the blaze at the Mrs. Theodore Mackall Sr. home in Negley early Monday morning, in which the East Palestine fire department was required to obtain permission from city officials before responding to a call for help.

Complaint was also voiced regarding the $45 monthly wage scale for WPA workers in the East Palestine district. It was reported the pay in nearby Pennsylvania towns for similar work is $54 a month. The clerk was instructed to write to the WPA district office at Canton to ascertain the reason for the variance in rates for the same type of relief labor.

NOT long ago I was like some friends I have... low in spirits... run-down... out of sorts... tired easily and looked terrible. I knew I had no serious organic trouble so I reasoned sensibly... as my experience has since proven... that work, worry, colds and whatnot had just worn me down.

The confidence mother has always had in S.S.S. Tonic... which is still her stand-by when she feels run-down... convinced me I ought to try this Treatment... I started a course. The color began to come back to my skin... I felt better... I did not tire easily and soon I felt that those red-blood-cells were back to so-called fighting strength... it is great to feel strong again and like my old self.

Insist on S.S.S. Tonic in the blood-red Cellophane-wrapped package... the big 20-oz. size is sufficient for two weeks' treatment... it's more economical, too.

Announcing the First Showing of the New Golden Jubilee Westinghouse Refrigerator

THE Westinghouse UNIT HAS

Hermetically sealed

● The first Westinghouse Refrigerator ever sold had a Hermetically-sealed Mechanism. Twelve years of research, experiment, and testing went into its development. To these years of pre-testing have been added long years of actual operating proof. In thousands of homes daily experience shows that this forced-draft cooled, Hermetically-sealed, lifetime-oiled mechanism is the key to unusually low-cost, trouble-free refrigeration. That is why owners, by thousands, say "If we were buying a new refrigerator today it would certainly be a Westinghouse." That's why Westinghouse can say, "With every sealed-in mechanism you get five years' protection against service expense at a cost of only $5 — a dollar a year — included in the price." And this is only one of many convincing values in models now on display here.

JAPAN ADDS TO CHINA DEFENSE

To Send More Troops and Planes to Garrison in North China

TIENSIN, Feb. 20.—A permanent increase in Japanese military forces stationed in North China will be made this spring on or before the next annual troop replacements are due to arrive in May, according to present plans.

An agreement on the increase was reached during the recent visit of Col. Seichi Kita, chief of the China section of the army general staff, and Lieut. Col. Akira Muto, of the military affairs bureau of the War Ministry, who consulted with Major Gen. H. Tada, Commander of Japanese troops in China.

It will be necessary to submit the proposal to the Diet as an addition to the army's budget. Details of the general staff's plans have not been disclosed but it was expected that the North China garrison would be increased by at least one mixed brigade and an aviation squadron. Workmen have been busy at the Japanese garrison in Tientsin for weeks erecting new structures to house the newcomers.

Troop Limit Not Fixed
Staff officers explain there is no provision in the Boxer Protocol or any other agreement limiting the number of Japanese troops or any other foreign troops in North China. They take the view there should be no objections to an increase in view of Japan's "special status in North China, unlike that of any other foreign power."

Even under normal conditions, Japan maintains the largest number of troops in North China. Normal garrisons are: Japan, 1,870; Britain, 1,810; American, 1,270; Italian, 390. The U. S. Army troops in Tientsin number about 765 and the U. S. Marines in Peking total around 505. The normal complement of the Japanese troops:

Tientsin	1,030
Peking	300
Shanghai	100
Tangshan	155
Lushoway	80
Tientsin	65
Chinwangtao	50
Changli	20

Garrison Forces Shifted
However, it is believed most of these garrisons have been doubled during the past couple of months. The Japanese military spokesman said that the local garrisons had been reinforced, due to the unsettled conditions, but that this had been accomplished by bringing in troops from other garrisons in the north, and that the total number was not increased.

Akron Rubber Workers Picket Plant

In protest against the layoff of tire builders—explained by the company as due to seasonal fluctuations but interpreted by union leaders as an attempt to restore the eight-hour day—between 1,000 and 1,500 union pickets patrolled the Akron plant of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. following labor unrest which has resulted in several "sitdown" strikes in recent weeks. While workers performed picket duty, top, an emergency "commissary" served sandwiches, below.

Old Dobbin Barely Holds His Own On Ohio Farms In '35

A survey by the federal state crop reporting service showed today that Dobbin barely held his own on Ohio farms while all other classifications of livestock increased both in value and numbers.

During 1935 the number of horses, the survey found, remained at 478,000. Valued at $137 a head, their total worth was set at $65,691,000. All other livestock was valued at $193,001,000, 53 per cent greater than in 1935.

The survey showed Ohio livestock compared favorably with that of the nation as a whole, based on the annual U. S. livestock inventory.

The total value of the nation's livestock Jan. 1, 1935, was estimated at $4,985,302,000, an increase of $1,635,217,000 over Jan. 1, 1935.

Ohio Leads Loans

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—Ohio tops the nation in the number of loans granted by the Home Owners Loan corporation.

The federal agency reported today it had loaned 95,000 Ohio home owners approximately $30,000,000, about 10 per cent of the total loans granted throughout the country.

Ohio headquarters said it hoped to dispose of 5,000 pending applications for loans by April 1.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeanette Young Norton

MANY WISE providers round off heavy winter meals by serving a dainty dessert and a chilled dessert at that. Serving frozen desserts right in the smack-middle of icy weather is a trick that has been popular with smart hostesses for quite some time, and it is an idea that is gaining ground.

Appropriately enough, we'll start with Jack Frost mousse, made with that year-round favorite, the banana. Mix together one cup mashed, fully-ripe bananas (about two bananas), two tablespoons orange juice and eighth of a teaspoon orange rind (grated). Add quarter cup coconut, three and a half tablespoons brown sugar and eighth of a teaspoon of salt. Whip one cup heavy cream until fluffy but not stiff. Fold in banana mixture. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze until firm. Decorate with green or red maraschino cherries.

Then there's pink snow, as dainty as its name. Pour quarter cup cold grape juice over two teaspoons granulated gelatin and let stand. Heat three-quarters of a cup of grape juice with four tablespoons light corn syrup to boiling point. Dissolve softened gelatin in hot liquid. Chill. When thick, but not set, beat with egg beater until soft and fluffy. Beat in one stiffly-beaten egg white and continue beating until mixture is thick. Fold in cream; mold and chill.

Orange rice sleet certainly does sound chilly but once it is served it is always certain of a warm welcome. Mix one and a half cups of cooked rice with three tablespoons powdered sugar, half cup shredded coconut, half cup crushed pineapple and one tablespoon sliced candied orange peel. Then fold in half cup cream, whipped. Fill in sherbet glasses, chill, sprinkle generously with coconut and serve very cold.

For a delicate apple water ice, boil together for ten minutes two cups water and one cup sugar. Add two cups sweetened apple sauce and two tablespoons lemon juice, also a few drops peppermint flavoring or a few sprigs of fresh mint (minced fine). Pour into refrigerator. Stir twice with fork at 15 minute intervals. Garnish with mint leaves.

As a cold finale, we suggest a salad and dessert in one, something that is different as well as delicious. Add one tablespoon lemon juice and one teaspoon salt to two tablespoons mayonnaise and stir.

into two three-ounce packages of cream cheese. Mix with two tablespoons crushed pineapple, half cup maraschino cherries cut into quarters and half cup chopped walnut meats. Fold in one cup heavy cream, whipped. Then add three well-ripened bananas cut into cubes. Turn into tray of automatic refrigerator, or place in mold and pack in ice and salt, and freeze for about three hours.

Student Killed

CLEVELAND, Feb. 20.—Lynn R. Donathen, 16, Lakewood High school junior, was dead today after a friendly scuffle with another youth in the school gymnasium. Donathen fell and struck his head. Lakewood police said.

Ohio Supreme Court Okays Dam Changes

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—The Muskingum watershed conservancy district directors, the state supreme court held today, may make changes in the original plan of the project.

The court dismissed an appeal to the village of Magnolia, in Stark and Carroll counties, from a decision of the district directors to build a dike to protect the village from backwater of a dam.

The backwater would be caused by construction of the Bolivar retardation dam, provided for in an amendment to the district's original plans.
